THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L.

Any fleeing criminal seeking to avoid the strong right hand of John Law ought to know better than to try to hide in the Sierra foothills. In places where the population is well scattered and homes are few and far between, a stranger, whether he wears broadcloth or denim, is instantly spotted, scrutinized and sized up. If he is off the beaten path, such as one of the state's main traffic arteries, he is given an especially sharp once over.

For instance, the Downieville Road. There is a lot of traffic on it to be sure, lumber trucks going and coming, the daily stage, people who live along the route or in hamlets and towns, tourists going through Sierra County and over Yuba Pass, hunters and fishermen. A good many eyes survey the road and those who travel it. If there is the slightest detail unusual in the wayfarer's manner or dress it is mentally noted by unseen spectcators.

Men disappear in the crowd on Market Street but they never quite vanish in these here hills, unless death takes a hand. Men must eat, just as whales must come to the surface of the ocean. And always there are eyes scanning the brush covered hills for any sign of life. A deer breaks his rest, or retires after a night's feeding to the denser growth. Somebody sees the slight movement in the brush and mentally notes whether it is a buck or a doe.

In fact these here hills are a dead end, a blind alley for those who flee justice. They think they will hide long enough, live by plundering lonely homes or summer cottages, until they can safely emerge and mingle with their fellow men again. But it doesn't turn out that way. Too many people in these hills are suspicious of strangers. They may not always report them, but they do take a mental photograph of the chap and file it for future reference. In the cities where the crowd is all strange, one to another, a criminal may move about with far more freedom than in these hills. If Bill Ebaugh, could not hide, a man, who to all practically purposes, had reverted to the wild, who knew every nook and cranny of his habitat as well as the palm of his hand, how can a couple of strangers, who burst into the scene, hope to escape? The truth probably is they haven't stopped to weigh their chances. They fear the city crowd and wish to hide out in timber and brush. They do not stop to consider how they shall eat, or in some cases, find water, to sustain themselves. If they did stop to consider such everyday matters probably they wouldn't be criminals.

Other things these trespassers against their fellow men forget, are the roads, the teletype, the two-way short-wave radio, the improved binocolars, airplanes, hovering overhead out of pistol and rifle range, swift cars, newspapers, but most of all the roads. These are few and far betwen. They can be blockaded by telephone in a matter of minutes. There are very few roads running into the main arteries crossing the Sierras, And when a side road opens it may lead, and usually does, to another dead end. The fugitive finds himself miles from no where, and his gas petering out and his hundger for food increasing.

These criminals who seek to live by preying in one way or another on their fellow men, generally speaking never seem well equipped to do so. Somewhere there is lacking the stealth and resourcefulness that animal predtor possess. Their clothes betray them, the tones of voices, their accent it may be, their manner, or it may be their shoes, their way of walking, and finally their lack of sound judgment in choosing a place to hide.

NO AGREEMENT BETWEEN CIO AND IDAHO MARYLAND

GRASS VALLEY: William Gately, organizer for the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, CIO, stated Wednesday that no agreement had been reached with the Idaho Maryland Miners Corporation respecting the dispute which caused the union to place picket lines at the gates of the corporation on May 31.

Gately reported an unsuccessful attempt had been made at a meeting attended by Neal O'Donnell, general manager of the Idaho Maryland. himself, William J. Vurtin, a labor conciliator from San Francisco and an attorney.

Gately proposed that the 20 miners discharged by the Idaho Maryland management on May 29th, and those who went on strike with them be re-instated in their jobs. and that an NLRB election be held to determine the bargaining agency. Both these requests O'Donnell refused, Gately said, and he also declined to give reasons for the discharge of the 20 members of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

The Mine Workers Protective League, a local independent union, now has a bargaining agency contract extending to June 30, 1948.

O'Donnell in several recent statements has maintained that the National Labor Relations Board has no jurisdiction in the case of California gold mines since it has been decreed by the courts that the mines are not in interstate commerce. They ship their gold to the U. S. Mint in San Francisco.

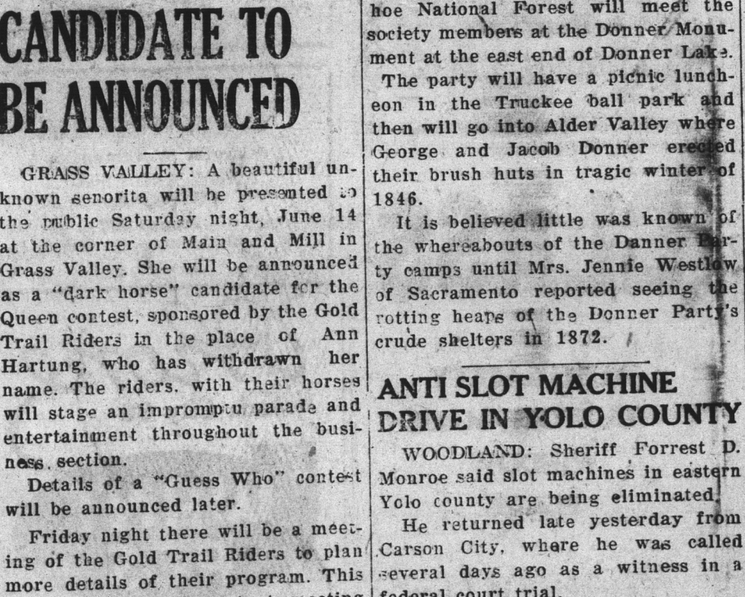
Slot machines are being eliminated.



GRASS VALLEY: J. P. Allen, high Sheriff of the Grass Valley Whiskerinos, and Harry Clayton, Nevada City Whiskerino Chief, look mighty tough as they rush Bareface Ted Rosequist into the portable Hoosegow, located at the moment in front of the Chamber of Commerce office. BULLETIN

NEVADA CITY: A search party led by Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins arrested Vernon (Slim) Byer, 23, third member of the Wheatland bandit trio at 6:10 p. m. last night in Bridgeport. Byer, who had been hiding in a miner's roadside shack, casually walked out, apparently endeavoring to look like a harmless native.

The quintet of law officers, armed to the teeth, trained all guns on the desperate bank robber. Byer, seeing his hoax was a failure, put his hands out at his sides in a horizontal position. He walked steadily towards Henry L. Williams, California Highway Patrolman.

"Stop right there, or I'll shoot," barked Williams. Byer stopped.

He was immediately searched. He was unarmed, but around his waist was stuffed a large quantity of high denomination bills.

The arresting group included Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins, William French, Forest Service officer, two Sacramento FBI agents whose names are withheld, Henry L. Williams, highway patrolman, Albert S. Bates, Chief of Police of Nevada City Max Solaro, and Robert Graham.

The miner who owned the shack was apparently not aware of the identity of his guest. Officers interrogated the old miner immediately, but he was not arrested.

Byer had a few minutes earlier entered Bridgeport and purchased cigarettes and peanuts from the Kneebone station and store there. It was from this store that the tipoff report was relayed.

Williams, driving a highway patrol Chevrolet sedan and accompanied by the two FBI operatives, delivered Byer to the Sheriff's office at 7:07 p. m. He was immediatey closeted with the sheriff, highway patrol Captain Joe Blake, the FBI officers and other enforcement officers.

A tray of food was rushed in a few minutes later.

Byer, a handsome lad, slim, blonde and blue-eyed, was rushed into the sheriff's office with his hands handcuffed behin him. William French reported that the young desperado was trembling violently when taken into custody. He was attired in a dirty T-shirt, blue jeans and heavy shoes, and covered with dust.

It was he whom French, flying in a Camp Beale airplane had spotted at 11 a. m. yesterday morning, sitting on a rock near a brook in the same area in which he was found.

NEVADA CITY: Gratien Octave Etchebarne died in the County Hospital at 11:25 a. m. yesterday. Etchebarne, one of the trio who robbed the Wheatland bank Tuesday afternoon, was shot by Sheriff Richard Hoskins at 1 p. m. Wednesday, on the Downieville Highway one mile south of the Columbia Hill Road intersection.

Sheriff Hoskins downed the desperado with a short-barreled automatic shotgun. Three of the buckshot pierced the man, one enttring his kidneys. He received three blood transfusions, the last ordered by Dr. George A. Foster at 2 a. m. Thursday morning. Dr. Foster worked over the wounded man for several hours Wednesday.

Etchebarne had on his person between 2 and 3 thousand dollars in greenbacks when apprehended. He was short, dark and when wounded was accompanied by a tall partner in crime known only as "Slim." The pair had lunch and a coke at Peterson's Corners at noon, and it was there that the fatal tipoff the the Sheriff's headquarters originated.

Thursday morning William French, flying in a Camp Beale reconnaisance plane spotted two men in the Wheatland area. French, communicating by 2-way radio with the ground search crews reported one man sitting by a brook dangling his feet in the water and the other man running.

At latest reports, one bandit, was still at large while the sheriff and his staff, posse, and determined citizens searched the area for the remaining bandit, characterized as "Slim.'

Ralph Thurman, 23 year old Texan was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Hoskins as Thurman sought to hitch hike on the Grass Valley highway this side of Casey's Corners.

In an exchange of gunfire at Casey's Corners the desperate trio had wounded Yuba County Sheriff John Dower and Marsville policeman Lyle Prothero.

The two law officers intercepted the fleeing trio and as they did so were met with a burst of gunfire from "Slim" and Etchebarne, while Thurman stepped on the getaway auto's accelerator. Dower suffered a chest and arm wound and Prothero a flesh wound in the side.

Prothero was given first aid, but Sheriff Dower was hospitalized in Marysville, where his condition was reported satisfactory.

Engaged in the hunt, in addition to Sheriff Hoskins, were Sheriff G. W. Carpenter of Sutter County, Sheriff W. H. Forward, of Butte County, Sheriff Dewey Johnson of Sierra County and Sheriff Dower, plus scores of armed citizens, highway patrol officers and deputies.

Automobile lights, flares and fires kept a ring around the Casey's Corners area through Tuesday night and armed sentries were posted at short intervals.

Scattered groups spread out immediately to establish road blocks and to ferret out likely hiding places.

The men identified as Shorty and Slim covered three employes of the bank after closing time and scooped the money into a wastepaper basket. The trio fled to a second car and both machines were headed through the Camp Beale reservation toward Grass Valley. One car was abandoned before Dower and Prothero, cutting in from an angle from Marys-

SALE OF GOLD APPROVED

Gold in its natural state may be bought and sold for domestic use without the neessity of a license. This is the ruling of the Treasury Department given in response to an inquiry from my office.

The question of whether or not gold could be bought and sold in its natural state without a license was raised by the Plumas Chapter of the Western Mining Council in connection with discussions which have been going on for some months as to how to secure a free market for gold. I submitted the question to the Treasury Department and received an answer quoting the Gold Reserve Act of 1934 and the regulations issued thereunder. Both the Act and the regulations are complicated enough to require some interpretation. I then submitted the question to the Attorney General, who after a month refused to answer my inquiry on the ground that he was only authorized to give opinions to the President and the the heads of Executive Departments.

I then contacted the General Counsel for the Treasury and told him that I thought somebody in the government ought to be able to tell a citizen whether or not he was going to be put in jail for violation of any federal law or regulation if he bought and sold gold in its natural state. The Treasury Department sent up a representative for discussion of the matter. He positively stated that as long as gold is in its natural state it can be bought, sold, and transported without a federal license. The effect of this ruling is to give a free market for domestic gold in its natural state—gold which has not been melted, smelted, refined or otherwise treated by heating or by chemical process. To the gold operators in the country it is a partial accomplishment of the domestic free market.

The Treasury buys and sells gold for $35.00 an ounce, and it has been generally believed that all gold, whether in its natural state or treated, could be sold only to the Treasury. With the rising costs of material and labor, many gold operators have been unable to make a profit at this figure, and it is well known that gold is commanding a much higher price in foreign countries and in the black market in this country. It may be possible in view of this interpretation by the Treasury for gold miners to legitimately realize a higher price for their product as long as it is sold in its natural state. I have pending before the Banking and Currency Committee of the House a measure which would permit a domestic free market for newl mined gold of all types, but up to the present the Committee has shown no disposition to give a hearing on the bill.

Senate Acts as Moderator Of New House Legislation

Is Price Cutting Campaign Already Beginning to Sag?

Special to Central Press

● WASHINGTON—The Senate, in the first completely GOP-controlled Congress in 17 years, is acting as a kind of balance wheel or moderator of drastic legislation passed by the House of Representatives. This tendency is appearing in virtually all major legislation. Examples are:

1—The House passed the drastic Hartley labor regulation bill by a 308 to 107 vote, assuring that this chamber would repass the bill over a presidential veto. The Senate passed the Taft labor bill, 68-24, an edge great enough to edge a veto, but it was doubtful whether a two-thirds Senate vote could be mustered for the Hartley bill.

The Capitol

2—The House passed the three billion eight million-dollar tax reduction bill and made it retroactive to last Jan. 1. Prospects are that the Senate will accept the bill, but will move the effective date up to July 1. This bill has turned out to be a strictly partisan measure, and a presidential veto is regarded as almost certain.

3—The House slashed President Truman's request for post-UNRRA foreign relief funds from 350 million to 200 million dollars. The Senate is set to vote the full 350 millions—which probably will mean a compromise in conference.

4—The House is ripping huge chunks out of President Truman's budget requests in passing appropriation bills, but the Senate is partially restoring the cuts.

* * * *

● THERE ARE GROWING INDICATIONS that the price cutting campaign that swept through many small cities and towns on the heels of President Truman's "mark down" request is beginning to bog down.

One reason is that most reductions were made at the retail level and never seemed to filter down to the jobbers and wholesalers. Many businessmen pointed out that the price slashing drive was "unhealthy" because of this inequality.

Another reason is that many leading industrialists are still wary about the extent of second-round wage increases. Until wage demands are settled, businessmen feel that they should not commit themselves on price reductions.

A third reason is the general attitude of business over the government's food subsidy program which continues to hold up farm prices. Businessmen feel that they shouldn't be told to slash prices when the government doesn't take reciprocal action.

* * * *

● THE STATLER HOTEL CHAIN is preparing for an anticipated drop in wholesale food prices of between 20 and 25 per cent no later than early fall.

John L. Hennessy, chairman of the hotel chain's board of directors, told a large group of Washington reporters that within nine months he expects pork and beef prices to be lower while the poultry market becomes stable. He expects other foods to drop, too, and said the chain will cut its prices by about 14 or 15 per cent if the reductions materialize.

* * * *

● SOME SHOE RETAILERS also look for a 20 per cent cut in prices this summer.

The reason: Sales have dropped sharply since the first of the year and inventories are so high that store orders for next fall were only 15 to 20 per cent of anticipated needs.

* * * *

● A SOURCE CLOSE TO THE WHITE HOUSE reveals that President Truman has a staff of experts working on the kind of a labor law he would like to see the Congress pass.

A Truman Labor Bill Version?

It is understood that the president plans to use the bill in framing the possible veto message that labor legislation now, under consideration in both Houses seems certain to bring.

The bill, being formulated under White House direction, is designed to serve as a focal point for the so-called liberal Republican bloc on the Hill. It probably will attempt to correct the most flagrant labor abuses without alienating the affections of the labor vote.

A diamond will glow in the manner of luminous paint after exposure to sunlight or in the presence of radium.

It has been demonstrated that under intense heat, and in the presence of oxygen or air, the carbon in a diamond unites with the oxygen and the gem burns ieself into a black, worthless crisp.

The Geiger counter is an invention which detects the presence of the dangerous rays of radio activity and is used in all atomic laboratories. Small new high voltage Eveready batteries are used in these detectors.

Hospitals all over the country can now count on reliable long life emergency lighting since the development of the Eveready 45 volt B battery; according to battery engineers, it is the most efficient storage power ever invented.

Horsepower represents the power required to lift a weight of 33,000 pounds 1 foot in one minute or 550 pounds 1 ffot in 1 second.

The first gasoline automobile in the United States was invented by C. E. Duryea in 1892.

Development of portable radio sets was greatly accelerated by the development of powerful, compact, dry batteries, one of which—the Eveready MiniMax Battery—employs the layer built principle that traces back to the voltaic "pile" which was named for Allesandro Volta, maker of the first electric battery.

Sources of platinum in order of importance are: Canada, Columbia, Great Britain and Russia.

More than 100,000 plants form a giant floral clock at the zoo in Sydney, Australia. The clock's dial is 18 feet in diameter and the minute hand is eight feet long.

Few people realize that the raw materials for even such a compact item as an Eveready battery, go through rigid inspectiion processes and are subject to as many as 63 tests.

Good-neighbor policy party-line style

To provide telephone service to more people, there are more party lines in use these days than ever before...and most telephones are busier than ever before. When you share a line with one or more parties, you'll all get the most from your telephone service if you'll remember...

Five Golden Rules for party-line neighbors

- Space your calls instead of making an extended series of them...and talk only as long as necessary.
- If yours is an emergency call, and the line is in use, explain the circumstances to the person using the line.
- If you are calling from a dial telephone, always make certain the line is clear before you dial.
- Ask your youngsters not to monopolize the telephone.
- Replace the receiver properly when you finish your call.

Thank you!

Science and Health with key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy: The footsteps of thought, rising above material standpoints are slow and portend a long night to the traveler but the angels of His presence—the spiritual intuitions that tell us when the night is far spent, the day is at hand— are our guardians in the gloom. p. 174.

Purcell Says 1 Cent Gas Tax Is Inadequate

SACRAMENTO: Charles H. Purcell, state director of public works, declared a 1 cent increase in the gasoline tax as provided in the amended highwayy bill before the assembly, "will be grossly inadequate" for the critical needs of the highway system.

In a statement issued at the request of Assemblyman Michael Burns of Humboldt County, sponsor of AB 46, to finance an expanded highway program, Purcell described the amended bill as a "halfway measure."

The bill which originally called for a 1 1-2 cent gas tax increase but was "emasculated" by the assembly committee on revenue and taxation, was debated today on the floor of the assembly.

"The traffic situation on California's highways today is serious and extremely hazardous" declared Purcell, "It demands immediate attention and requires bold action. Halfway measures will not provide California with an adequate highway system. In the face of the problem to be met, a 1 cent per gallon tax is a halfway measure."

Purcell said the amended bill would provide $57,000,000 for highway construction during the 1948-49 fiscal year as against $69,800 000 in the original bill.

The director pointed out he has urged repeatedly $75,000,000 a year be made available for highway construction. Even this amount he said, will not meet all the deficiences.

GUESS what part of your cost-of-living dollar goes for GAS and ELECTRICITY

Relative Importance of the Major Groups of Items priced for the San Francisco Consumers' Index as of December 15, 1946.

All Items . . . 100 cents
Food . . . . . 44.7 cents
Clothing . . . 12.4 cents
Rent . . . . . 11.5 cents
House furnishings . 3.7 cents
Miscellaneous 25.6 cents
* Fuel, Electricity and Ice . . 2.1 cents

That is a good question and you should know the answer. It is only a small part of each dollar you pay out to run your home and feed and clothe your family.

And the reason is that gas and electricity are among the very few cost-of-living items you still buy today at way-below pre-war prices. (Since 1939 the cost of electricity has gone down 16% and the cost of gas has gone down 33%).

The chart to the left, which is based on an official government report from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, shows that the costs of gas and electricity are mere fractions of each dollar you spend to maintain home and family.

Gas and Electricity are the outstanding bargains in the home today!

just 9/10 of a cent goes for GAS*
just 8/10 of a cent goes for ELECTRICITY*

NATIONAL GUARD UNIT HERE COMMENDED

SACRAMENTO: Northern California's 184th Infantry, with 390 members, leads all National Guard units in the state in recruiting men and officers, it was announced today by Captain Richard J. Bullock, personnel officer.

Following release of official unit strength reports, Major General Curtis D. O'Sullivan, the adjutant general and former leader of the 184th commended the regiment, including Nevada City's Company E.

"In the difficult post war mission of reorganization," General O'Sullivan said, "the 184th has again proved itself one of the outstanding guard regiments in the nation."

Bullock stated that the authorized peace time strength of the famous combat unit is more than 3000 men. He urged local veterans to investigate their opportunities to earn spare time money and receive expert training in the 184th Infantry.

PUBLIC SCHOOL TAXES

State apportionment to the schools in the county for 946-47 was $239,078.

Local taxes for the school districts in the county for 1946-47 amounted to $294,952 or 55 per cent of the revenues of the districts.

Over the state as a whole, state apportionments to school districts in 1946-47 were 38 per cent of the $269,377,858 revenues of school districts.

The California State Automobile Association cautions motorists against driving with the left elbow protruding outside the car window. This practice can be dangerous when modern cars, without running board, pass each other on narrow roads.

Front wheel bearings on your car should be cleaned, adjusted and repacked with fresh lubricant by a competent mechanic at regular intervals, advises the California State Automobile Association.

An example of a "package" that serves as a functional part of what it contains is the zinc shell of an Eveready battetry, which operating chemically through the electrolyte in the cell, generates electricity that flows to the central, carbon post.

CORRECT TIMING

Correct ignition timing means much to automobile economy and performance the California State Automobile Association suggests. Changes in motor fuels may be compensated for by corrections in timing, but this work should be done by a skilled mechanic.

The Transcontinental Railway, Australia, holds the world's record for the longest stretch of straight railway, which is absolutely straight for 328 miles across the Nullrvor plain. Veterans' News

In the Branch 12 area of the Veterans Administration, which includes California, Arizona, Nevada and Hawaii, nearly 3,000 veteran-farmers have taken advantage of benefits provided by federal law.

Veteran-farmers usually receive training under the G. I. Bill and in some cases are paid subsistence allowances of $65.00 or $90.00 a month, depending on whether they have dependents. The veteran-trainee's average monthly income from farm or wages, plus subsistence allowance, must not exceed $175. for a single veteran or $200. for a veteran with dependents.

Disabled veterans receive farm training under the Vocational Rehabilitatino Act, which provides slightly higher subsistence payments.

Under both laws two types of training are given, "institutional-on-farm" training or "on-the-job" training. In the first the veteran takes courses in the agriculture department of a school in his community and does practical farming on his own farm or that of an employer. The "on-the-job' training program calls for instruction of the veteran in certain agricultural subjects in connection with his work on the farm of an employer.

Most veterans ae enrolled in the "institutional - on - farm" program which is conducted in conjunction with the Agricultural Training Committe in each community. The committee, made up of leading farmers and agricultural experts in the commmunity, advise the veteran in his training and farm operations.

MAYOR SEAMAN RECEIVES LETTER FROM GERMAN BOYS

Letter received by Mayor Irvine Seaman of Nevada City from George Laux 13a Nurnberg, Linnestr, Lg. Bayern-Deutschland U. S. A. Zone.

Nurnberg, 20th March 47

Dear Gentlemen,

In our latest newspaper we read a notice about your town. Therefore we came to the thought, to write a letter to you. We are two young Germans in the age of 18 and 20. We lived to see all the most terrible time of the last war. Our lodgings have been totally destroyed.

Now you can see from our address we live at Nurnberg, maybe you heard about that it is the most destroyed town of whole Germany. It is now our work, to build up all this ruin again. We work from the early morning till night on it.

Now you know, when you much work, you need much to eat. But our rations are so damn short, that we are always hungry.

And because we have no relatives in the U. S. A. who send us sometimes a trifle, therefore we try it in this way to get friends in the states.

And we beg you, if it were possible to send us a trifle, to eat and to smoke. Maybe in your area are some people, who are willing to help us boys from our great need.

In the hope to get an answer, we will finish our letter, and thank you very much before

Yours Faithfully

Recently a party including an engineer representing Los Angeles capitalists spent several days going over the country from Birchville to Graniteville looking into the proposed water power set up and they were seemingly satisfied with the possibilities. Had the run off records which are always very conservative and the blue prints of several storage sites in addition to the hydraulic pits along the Ridge which would furnish storage for large quantities of water and could easily be filled during the rainy season.

We note French Corral is well provided with domestic and irrigation wter despite the light season rain fall and the flowers and gardens look fine.

SHERIFF SHOOTS ONE, JAILS TWO OF 3 WHEATLAND BANK ROBBERS

ville, intercepted the trio.

Thurman was hiking on the Grass Valley road when apprehended. He had only one shoe on and was limping from an injury to one foot. He professed to being a hitchhiker and sullenly refused to answer questions until a late hour when he gave a confession to the FBI.

Thurman said he has a wife, Mabel May, in Lodi. He had three $10 bills and $6 in silver in possession and said Slim had the waste paper basket with the bulk of the loot when last seen by him.

Slim is reported to have remarked he "ould not be taken alive."

Thurman said he met his comranions in Lebanon, Ore., and came to Yuba County last week. They spent one night in Grass Valley. Cars were stolen in Corvallis, Ore., and in Marsville. The bank holdup plan was "cased' during the week.

Thurman was born in Dundee, Tex., and he admitted to spending four months in the San Joaquin County jail in Stockton in 1946 for automobile theft and six months in the Contra Costa County jail for burglary in 1943.

Sheriff Hoskins said he believes the bank robbery and escape plan was well plotted and was thwarted only by the chance interception of the trio by Sheriff Dower and Prothero.

He said the abandoned car was run through a 16 foot opening in the fence on the Beedle place near Casey's Corners and concealed so completely that it might have passed unnoticed for days had not the search centered in the area. Hoskins added further questioning of Thurman may reveal details of the escape plan.

The manhunt was declared to be the greatest since the 1935 hunt for Joseph Tanko and Floyd Hall, escaped convicts and slayers.

The Wheatland bank was robbed in November 1938. The lone robber who escaped with $2500 was hunted in the same general area of Nevada County.

The robbery of the Bank of America in Wheatland, Yuba County, occurred at 2:57 p. m. Tuesday, just as the bank was about to close its doors after the days business. "Slim" the man still at large, scooped up $14,250 in a wastebasket.

Three cars were used by the bandits, two of which were stolen in Marysville, and a third in Klamath Falls, Oregon.

A 1946 Plymouth coupe belonging to Louis Putman and a 1941 Ford coupe belonging to Donald Gillette, both of Marysville, were parked on High Street between Second and Third Streets when they were stolen atout 1:30 p. m. yesterday.

The Dodge developed tire trouble in Wheatland, so the men hitchhiked to Marysville and took the other two cars and returned to Wheatland, officers said.

After committing the robbery they started out for Grass Valley in the Ford and Plymouth but were forced to abandon the Ford in a creek near the Bear River, police believed. All three then transferred to the Plymouth and drove up the Spenceville road toward highway 20.

The gun battle took place just outside the Camp Beale reservation. After the shooting the men continued along the Spenceville road for a mile and turned into an open field. abandoned the Plymouth and escaped on foot.

David Metlen, manager of the Wheatland Bank of America, described his experiences.

"The two bandits entered the bank about three minutes before the 3 p. m. closing time." Metlen said. "There were other customers in the bank. I looked up at the fellow, the older and shorter of the pair. He was about three feet from me as I was typing out some work for one of the customers.

"The last two customers left the bank together. The minute the door was closed (the blind already had been pulled down) the man near me pulled out a .38 caliber revolver. He shoved the gun in my face—about a foot from my nose—and I backed up in a hurry.

"You better lie down on the floor" the robber said. "Stretch out straight and don't reach for anything.'

"I did as I was told. The younger bandit, a tall, slender and dark complexioned man, jumped through the teller's window. He forced Harrison (Herbert Harrison, assistant teller) to lie on the floor. The girl (Mrs. Richard Askew) come out of the vault just then, shutting the door.

"Where is the money?" the tall one demanded. 'I don't know,' Mrs. Askew said. 'Well get out and lie on the floor,' she was commanded.

"The shorter man was very definitely a blond. He had very little to say. The younger and taller one appeared to be of Latin extraction and was swarthy. He had straight black hair and black eyes. He did most of the talking and was tough although no profanity was used.

"The robbers crammed the money into a waste paper basket, Had they been 20 minutes earlier they would have gotten probably just $5000 or $600 but it so happened we had just taken some money out for checking federal reserve accounts and it was available to them. After cleaning out the drawers, the men left after the tall one stood over me and said:

"You shut your eyes or I'll kick your ribs in."

"They had a getaway car around the corner with a third man in it and the motor running. As soon as they left I ran and got a double barreled shotgun and ran to the street but they were too far off for me to get a shot at them.

"I returned to the bank and immediately notified Marysville and FBI."

Metlen said he believes little if any silver was taken and the paper "ran a little more than $14,500."

Mrs. Askew said:

"As soon as I stepped out of the vault I saw the shorter man holding a gun on Mr. Metlen and I realized immediately, it was a holdup. Then the taller man asked me where the money was and I said I didn't know. Just then he noticed the burglar alarm and he snapped:

"Dont you step on that or it will be your last step."

Morris Fray and Forrest Pinkerman were identified as the last customers to leave the bank.
